

Asset lifecycle information management software connecting maintenance and engineering

WHY MERIDIAN?

Meridian transforms engineering data into actionable plant information, keeping users in control, compliant, aligned, and informed throughout the asset lifecycle.

Unlike departmental point solutions that are restricted in scope, Meridian provides a comprehensive solution for managing concurrent plant modifications of all scales, and maintaining as-built master data for operations and maintenance.

Meridian customers work with information in the cloud or on premise, at their desktop or on the go with their mobile device, within their organisation or with external contractors and stakeholders.

Meridian

Meridian, all you need to empower the asset lifecycle

“The system has been well received by the employees because of its ease of operation. Without Meridian, any progress at the new construction site would have been unthinkable.”
